Who are WCCTV?

WCCTV is the first company to have a video product certified by Verizon Wireless and has recently opened a US operation in Dallas.

The Company was established in the UK in 2001 and quickly became a market leading manufacturer for the supply of mobile surveillance products which operate via wireless networks. WCCTV was awarded the Queens Award for Enterprise: Innovation in 2009.

As WCCTV products utilise wireless networks, they are all fully portable and can be used in covert, overt, vehicle based and body worn applications.

What makes WCCTV unique?

WCCTV has developed the smallest available product which transmits live or recorded video via wireless networks. In addition WCCTV provides Verizon Wireless data packages complete with its products and software, so customers can start using the system immediately. It's simple and complete.

Customer support is also straight forward. If a user is willing to share their passwords, it's possible to connect remotely into a device and complete remote diagnostics.
